Dear Diary,
Our lives have been made inestimably richer by our contacts with one another. In phaning our youth, our trials, our joys, in just being together, we have found deep and enduring friendships.

together; but above classes we have worked for Stratford. We have worked out of love because love gives freely of itself. All that we have given has come back to we many fold in that precious, intangible feeling of having been a Stratford girl.

Sophomore Class Song

As love encircles all, within the campus walls, The Sophomores all are gathering, inside the hallowed halls And together

To pledge with truth our hearts, wherever we may be, To keep our honor trust to you, and dear old Stratford C.

Then, when the year is over, and we are far away, We'll always hold the spirit of a "Perfect Stratford Day" In our memory.

Friendships true have grown and our ideals raised high, The Sophomores seal their loyalty, this love will never die.

Sophomore Class History

In '45 we new girls bold Arrived at Stratford C., Ready then to take a hold Of our Freshman Class to be.

Though college life amazed us much We plugged along each day; And thus were called true Stratfordites When Rat Week passed away.

Class president was Carlie, Vice pres was Rabbit M.; Heaney, Belden and Peggy Quick Worked side by side with them.

Horseback season thus began And proved a sight for all, As Lucy and Dot Hunger Galloped off with Nancy Ball.

Bring out your racquets, warm them up; The tennis match begins, Marye and Robertson at the net; The best man always wins.

Three bells—we're off—October Day, Our banner won us fame; We Freshmen also reached our goal When we won the hockey game.

Our Rabbit was a privileged one; She led The Traveller band, With Lerch and Noyes as worthy aids They all worked hand in hand.

The fall play was a great success With talent as top score; Jo Baker, Rabb and Nancy B. Brought forth the laughs galore.

Our Stage Crew also did their part To carry on the show; Mai-Mai and Pat Laurie Pushed chairs and desks, you know.

Shelley and Keats were great poets, Just ask Jo Brough or Hume, For Poetry Club just adds that spark To our well-known Sunday gloom.

The Blazer Club next chose their group On one cold winter day; Oh, what a shock, but what a joy, They knew not what to say!

Heaney, Rome, Pat. and Jean Joined in with anticipation; But little they knew of the great surprise They'd find at initiation.

The Christmas climax of the year Was the play, "Nativity."
To add with grace and loveliness Were Ann, Chotz, Jo, and Bee.

We packed our bags and off we went, For holidays were here; Although the past had been great fun, We thought of the coming year.

Thus came the Iris Carnival With Dot Mitchell as our queen. Pat Sterling in our spook show, The ghastliest ghost we'd ever seen.

For Library Week, "Improve your mind, Read good books," was our theme. In a skit Bee Tennant, as Robin Hood, Came to Helena in a dream. With Models Boren, Musser and Hume Our Fashion Show was a delight; Belden and Lee as directors then, Put forth their best efforts that night.

The Traveller Banquet in the spring Brought merriment and cheer; Rabbit and Mary Jo were named Co-editors for next year.

Once more we greet our actresses, The Mason and Gentles team, And E. Baker as prop. manager Gave the "Silver Cord" a gleam.

The Horse Show is a main event And sure to prove great skill. Ann Carlson. Dawson and Jo B. Won honors without a spill.

All hail the ship, all hail the crew Was the May Day theme for spring. With all the glamour gals we had There was never a gayer thing.

At our farewell banquet to the Sophs, We bade them all "So-long." They really helped us through the year And now we'll carry on.

September finally rolled around And we entered Stratford's door. We're back again to our dear home, To the school we love once more.

B. Klarer now our Council pres, With Liz her right-hand man; Pat Laurie wrote the slips we hate, Heaney's job, the treas of the clan.

Carlie's once more our president, B. J.'s her faithful aid. Pat Sterling, Ann and Helena Carry on the Soph brigade.

Don't use your knife; it's not for peas. Good Manners Week, you know; Gatewood Smith, the Boren's, too, Gave our Manners play a glow.

Though we all can't go to India, I. R. C.'s our substitute; Jane leads us in our foreign news And Jo Dodd with programs to boot.

If you speak Spanish, see our Joan, She heads the Spanish group; And Quicky with her "parlez-vous" Would love you in her troup.

The Danville Club's right out on top With Lee to push them on; Carolyn, Julia, Frances and Jane All help to keep it strong.

October Day once more, Hooray! Our queen was really tops Rabbit, yes, she led the way; Escorted by our Chotz.

The fall play, "I Remember Mama," For sure, our biggest hit. With Arl as Dagmar, Lee, the cat, We'll always remember it.

The Stratford Big Top was the theme Of our banquet for Founders dear. In spirits high was Liz Marye, Our Toastmistress for this year.

The Blazer Club began to grow; More Sophomores we could claim. To keep us on the narrow path Was Belden's, our president's aim.

The Yuletide spirit at this time Was welcomed in by Joce. Then to our Christmas Card Girl now We raise a hearty toast.

With Christmas spirit in the air And love in every heart. Jane Newman as Madonna In Nativity played the part.

Hattie in the Iris Carnival Court Was really a lovely sight. Peg Earle, Sal Goode and Frances F. Made the Soph show a hit that night.

Peg Noyes, Pat C., and Dale Musser Fixed the table lists, as you know. When each three weeks had passed away To another table you'd go.

Jan Ford and Mary Rutherford As artists saved the day. To fashion shows and carnivals Their posters led the way.

Glee Club, whatever would we do Without our own quartette? Clarence and Barb and, of course, dear Bert, With Cordie leading it.

The petite, but vivacious Ann Reigned as Queen of Hearts at the dance, And Liz, Jo B and Barbara Held all the crowd in a trance.

Again we laid aside our time For our annual Fashion Show. K. Lunsford and Marilyn Maffett Learned to model from Romeo.

Good English Week, watch out, you're tagged; M. Joyner could tell you so, If you wanted to know your classe's score Ann Bain was sure to know.

"The Late George Apley," our spring play, Ended our dramas at last. Bee Tennant, Joan and all the girls Were really a wonderful cast.

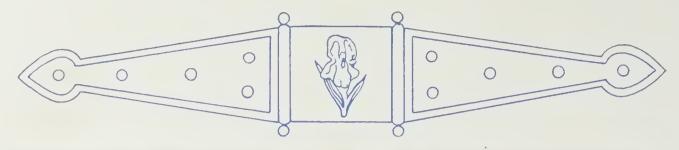

Our Queen of May Day, Kathleen L., Was our greatest joy and pride. She welcomed in the summertime With Ma Goose at her side.

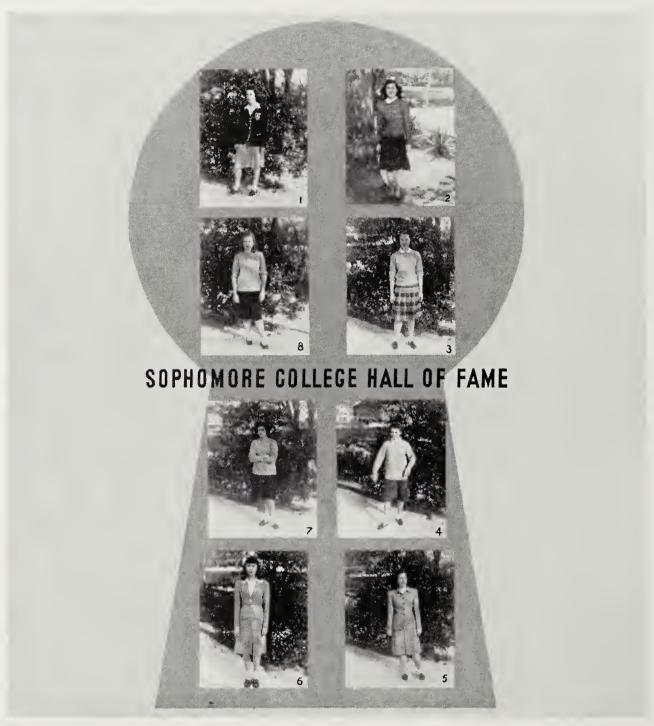

As heaven's curtain covers all And twilight shadows cool Creep o'er the lovely campus green, We leave our well-loved school.

Our hearts are sad this farewell time, Though there be unshed tears. We've loved each hour spent with you In these past happy years.

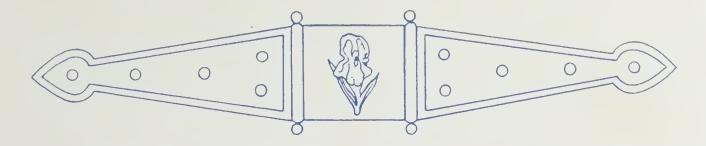

But as we go, we'd like to give Our thanks to every one. Good luck, farewell, and now we say Our Stratford history's done.

Sophomore Class Will

It seems that only yesterday We came to Stratford C.,
The home that in its own kind way Took the heart of you and me.

And now we have to journey on Our Sophomore year is past. We can't believe that it is gone, But mem'ries always last.

We'll take these mem'ries down the lane Of life, that we will tread. And with these gifts that we retain We'll journey far ahead.

Before we leave our Stratford dear, We want to leave a part Of all that to our hearts is near For soon our journeys start.

The crew leaves Captain Simpson here With all his main and might; Our ivy-twined ship to steer Through seas of blue and white.

Miss Kennedy, we leave to you, Though it's an awful sham, The works of Shakespeare (please don't sue), This version's done by Lamb.

Miss Fitz, we'll leave a special boon, She is one of the best. Now please don't faint, and please don't swoon, It's verse by Eddie Guest.

Mrs. Waddell, of the Sophomores true, Has been a constant friend. The care of her we leave to you, On each we do depend.

To Mama Cook the Sophomores will Their appreciation For all the green and yellow pills We took. (For our imagination.)

Curie and Bell were on the beam; Ann Gentles is likewise. She leaves this scientific gleam For Barrett, to chastise.

Clarence Boren just leaves a smile For all the red heads here, And Dawson, grinning all the while, Says Starky gets her cheer.

Ann Carlson wills a parachute, The lack of them is sad; When falling from that horse, the brute, The necd of one is bad.

Each class boasts of some lucky girl Whose diamond glistens bright. Joan Allen leaves this wedding whirl To a Freshman and her knight.

The human dictionary, Liz, Who stumps the very best, Has one big word to leave; that is "Shhh," with no protest.

Long hours of work in old Check Inn Are left to Peggy A. By Berta Lerch who helped to win, The IRIS bill to pay.

Durante, of the Sophomore class, Who is our own No-Nose, Presents this feature hard to pass For Lucia to dispose.

There's one girl in the Sophomore class Whose looks we won't dispute. To Estil E. this gift will pass; It's left by Hattie Crute.

Jocelyn leaves her gift for dress To Dotty, lucky girl; B. Boren leaves Chapel Hill success, For Katherine Rhett to whirl. Lee leaves to advertisers here Her gift of gab to try, So that the buyers of next year A whole big page will buy.

Bee Tennant leaves her drama roles, "To any prodigee, Who really wants to learn the scrolls Mrs. Parker gave to me."

Now Lucy Beach leaves some shorthand To be decoded by M. Moody, who will understand What knowledge to apply.

In Psych, Pat Sterling has a snap, (I wish I did, for sure). She leaves her hundred average rap For Watson to endure.

Now Gatewood, Stebbins and Fulton Have much to give away. They leave the intangible they've won In Stratford's work and play.

Carmen Miranda Quick, you know, Made many Stratford trips.
The last one was her final show, She left her swinging hips.

Dot Mitchell always uses slang, Such as "Ya'll" and "Durn." So she'll just leave this Georgia twang For Wackey to discern.

Mai-Mai, can't leave her hair, that's so, For it we see her yearn. But if she'd pull with less gusto, There'd be some left for Churn.

Editor of the paper, Jo. Leaves this her honored task To one who aspires to be a Poe; Genius is all we ask.

Now Romeo must leave her part; Her present will apall. To Fish Face from Romeo's heart, This prize—a volley ball!

Peggy Earle, or Jose Iturbi, Whichever name you choose, Leaves jazz time to disturb The classic lover's snooze.

The duties of the I. R. C. Are left by Jane to all, Who hopes to go across the sea To answer Europe's call.

McCord said, "Bel, I have no choice. Just what can I bestow? My broken records, or my voice, Either is apropos."

Jan leaves her hat from Lil Dache For Bet Leftwich to wear. That chapeau has the latest say; It is so debonair.

Guitars are heard from south to north, 'Specially in Stratford's hall.
This gay sound which issues forth Is left by Nancy Ball.

B. J. Snow bids a fond adieu To four years of this life, Leaving her pills to all of you, To quell internal strife.

With sun porch, Russian drapes, burnt floor; The room of Arl and "Hel" Is gladly left (with broken door) For Stratford's twins to sell.

Carlie's smile will still be here Long after we are gone.
To B. O. goes this grin sincere,
To help the stage crew on.

Janet leaves pounding on the floor In case you want to lose. Ann Bain makes life less of a bore By leaving her daily snooze.

Our own B. J. leaves her title To one who can survive. She also leaves her pride and joy Her faithful number five.

Jo Brough we claim as nightingale, She sings the whole day long. And so she leaves an octave scale For ev'ry Stratford song.

Sallie Goode was a busy lass: To Nappolis she ran. These many trips are now to pass From her to Claire Woltman.

A "win with Wilkie shirt" is now (By his supporter, Hume)
Left for M. Moughon to show,
And make her father fume.

Carolyn Cook leaves to Betty C. The oft-trod Stratford path. Jane Maynard leaves to Colleen P. The grades she made in Math.

The trio, Musser, Cousley, Noyes, Had had a lot of fun.
And so they leave here all the joys, When table listing's done.

Mary Joyner leaves a sigh For her English class. Good English Week has flown on by, But dreams of it won't pass.

What's this? What's that you're talking about? Is heard when Ann's around. Pat Wilkinson is left this doubt To make life more profound.

Rabbit and Pat, you should recall, Who grew the Iris flower, Leave their love of it to all To work on every hour.

Dot H. leaves behind her riding To all daring rangers, While Floye leaves her same ol' tiding, "Am I late?" to passing strangers.

Mary Rutherford leaves Jean Brough The song hit, "Shanty Town." And Emily Baker says its tough, But Sophie gets her frown.

An easel and some oil rare Is left to Miss Bessie, In hopes she'll put a picture there For our artist, Chotsie.

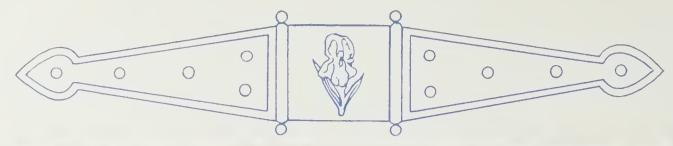

Kathleen Lunsford leaves flowing hair To Martha Clark at last. For Martha says she cannot bear Hair that will not grow fast.

At last my will must be made out, It's oh so hard to do;
To leave the Hitchcock-Belden bout To any one of you.

This will is signed by Nancy Bel, That seemed the thing to do. But honest, Sal, and Arl and Hel, Should have some credit too.

We'll say "So long," we've made our will. We hate to say "Good-bye." So keep the bridge, the lane, the hill; We've loved them—you and I.

Sophomore Class Prophecy

I came back to Stratford C, 'Twas just the other day;
To gaze around and think, you see, Of days that passed away.

I wandered o'er the campus shady, And then up Stratford Lane; 'Twas then I spied the little Gray Lady, Before I caught my train.

I knew that I would find her there Just as in days of old, So there she sat upon the stair To guard her campus hold.

Her old gray dress was almost white, And on her shoes was mold, But in her eyes I saw a light, And this is what she told.

I knew that you would come to me And ask about your friends; To walk o'er treasured ground, and see The beauty that it lends.

Oh, I've been here for many years And I've seen Stratford life. Besides their college joys and tears I've seen their worldly strife.

Of your classmates you inquire And what has been their fate, So sit beside me, please don't tire, And now I will relate.

Marilyn Maffett searched a year, For Cordie went astray. The roaming was futile, my dear, 'Cause she got lost in the valley one day.

Remember Peggy and Dale and Pat? They're quite an Andrew's total. With an added attraction at that, For Pat has learned to yodel.

I've seen Dawson on a swing Outside on her veranda. And Peggy Quick is quite the thing. A second C. Miranda!

Romeo owns a fine new stable, And with horses too. Gentles tells her Edmund fable When you see her zoo.

At the Met. I saw a special show; A duet of some name, For Liz Marye and Pat, you know, Have gained operatic fame.

Remember you, our Mary Joyner, And what so intrigued her? Now signs you'll find on every corner, "Joyner's" Super Cider!

Discussing her new-bought filly, Joan Allen last was seen, With Jo Baker and her Billy On a California scene. Among Europe's ancient archives, We find Prophets Hume and Snow; Still searching in the sages, For the perfect life, you know.

B. J. Klarer did wield the gavel Back at Stratford C..
But now you'll find her pounding gravel; I hope she'll soon be free.

Nancy Belden lives here yet; She couldn't go away, For she and Mr. Hitchcock get The pictures, if you pay.

Listen, dear, and don't be harried About our Carlie Electa. But she took her song to heart and married Hector, the Garbage Collecta!

Due to Rabbit's latest claim, "A Red is a Red is a Red"; The Soviet holds a greater fame, For by Stratford's star she's led.

Ann Bain and Kathleen L. are found Out in a foreign land. They're married now, safe and sound With two Marines in hand.

Of Stratford's "fatal femme," Powers couldn't overlook
Jo Porter and Dot M.,
Who keep well filled his book.

Clarence B. and Cousin Bobbie, With thier kiddies many, Supply the staff of "Our Gang Comedy." And rake up dough a-plenty.

Ann Williams reached a fame untold When she wrote a hit. "Bobbie" was the song she sold, The subject quite a fit.

Sally Goode did imitate Honey Rich one time. So Traveller work has been her fate, She thinks it is sublime.

Julia S. and Frances Gatewood, Since they left our school, Alumni leaders they have stood, To get our swimming pool.

Bee Tennant was a model gay, But now she has her man. While Arlene, up until this day, Is still a Frankie fan.

Senoritas Pat and Jane Got lost in Mexico. Vocabulary words are main, And their supply ran low.

Mary R. did paint her masterpiece Of Lucy Beach, I'm told, For Lucy's fame did she increase, And the picture really sold. Ann Carlson and Carolyn Cook, Since they flew the coup; Each has written quite a book On ways to make bean soup.

Cassini's been replaced by Lerch As D. C.'s social winner; To Dodd and her Atomic search She extends a hand at dinner.

Janet Heaney owns a shop Filled with big red hats. Where Lee R. makes a stop To get her ads and mats.

Peggy Earle is famous now, Her playing got her there. And Nancy Ball can take a bow; Guitars were her main fare.

Emily B. did so love dances That she has a show. Frances Fulton now enhances The foremost rhythm row.

Jane M. and Hattie Crute Now own a Danville store. And so Miss "Fitz" can get her suit On their exclusive floor.

Janet Ford and Dottie Hunger Specialized in art. But they liked comics for the younger; This was just a start.

Joey Brough can have her way On any Broadway stage. She's been compared with Alice Faye; Her songs are quite the rage.

Helena joined the WACS one day, And this is quite a fact. It all started, I would say, With her wooden soldier act.

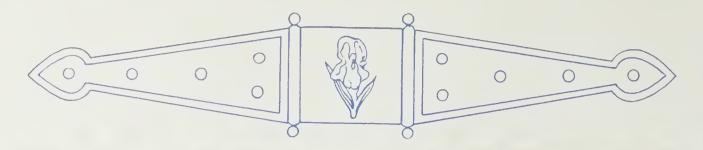

Floye Smith has settled down And lives a life sublime. She married a watchmaker of renown, And always knows the time.

I've finished now, and all are well, As you no doubt agree. Please come back and I will tell Some more of Stratford C.

I saw a merry twinkle gleam, And then she winked her eye. I saw her smile and this would mean, We couldn't say good-bye.

The white and blue are still on high; The spirit will remain; The weeping willows said good-bye While bending in the rain.

Senior Hall History

In Stratford's Hall it did befall, A wondrous class did come; As juniors gay, at work and play, We made the school our home.

In '45 'twas twenty-seven. Each one a worthy member, That made their way to Stratford's halls That day in late September.

With hearts so bold, the blue and gold We took to be our colors:
With yellow rose we soon began
To bring the old school honors.

We had to have a leader, so We elected Billy Kester, With Lucy Lee, and Laura Lee And Betty to assist her.

These leaders always led the way, And them we backed completely. Then with Miss Hinkle's sponsorship Our class was fitted neatly.

In sports, in sooth, in horsemanship, Our classmates did excel. For Melva heads the school Hunt Club And Sylvia's in as well.

In hockey, and in volleyball, We took an active part. And archery and tennis, too, We entered from the start.

The Sanders twins, Melva, Lindy, Juanita, Sylvia, too, Were asked to join the Blazer Club From dear old gold and blue.

October Day with colors gay We hailed with lusty cheer, On Founder's Day with great array Our patrons did appear.

With hearts aglow, we hailed the snow That fell in mid-December, On the day of "The Nativity," Which we shall all remember.

The prologue came from Lucy Lee; The Glee Club did a part In this traditional program that Each treasures in her heart.

Christmas gone, with looks forlorn, We knew exams were near. In spite of resolutions made We all did quake with fear.

But there was compensation for Two classmates new we had; One was Sally Brickman and The other Al Roundtree.

Billy Kester was a model in The Sophomore fashion skit. Our classmates joined the Red Cross And we all signed up to knit.

With hearts a-tune we greeted June And fondly bade adieu
To Stratford Hall until the fall,
When we'd begin anew.

Vacation o'er, we came once more, Our hearts all filled with pride. Nineteen old girls, eleven new, Hall Seniors dignified. Sylvia Makepeace rules the Hall; Pat Timmer heads the class. "Rick" was made our sponsor, her No one could e'er surpass.

Gant, Milliken, Milstein, Susan G. Our other offices fill. They keep the records, raise the funds, And do it all with skill.

Now in the fall of '46 We started out again To do the things we did last year With greater might and main.

October Day games were good and fast, The white team beat the blue. And we were proud, our senior song Won judges' praises too.

Fall planting day was something new, Again we took a part, And left the evergreens to grow Like memories in our heart.

We had a circus all our own On Stratford's Founder's Day. The "Big Top" theme was carried out In a very clever way.

We kept dramatic standards high As they have been for years, In "I Remember Mama," Papa helped to jerk the tears.

Miss Fitz had lent her studio For parties, we had fun, And there the plans for painting crests Of Stratford were begun.

When Christmas came, with spirits high, We had a lovely party. The old "rec" room in festive guise Rocked with our laughter hearty.

Each guest received a little gift; The supper was quite good. And then we danced and sang and played As lively Seniors should.

An oasis in a desert, and A palm encircled spring; A snack bar in a college Is just that kind of thing.

So to enhance finances, And to help our fellows dear, Our class has run a sandwich shop Each Thursday all the year.

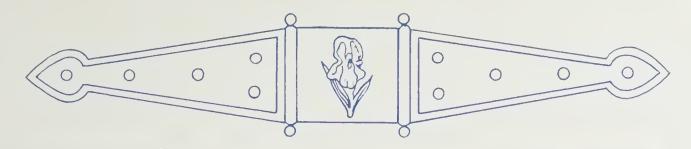

And then when school was opened, After our vacation sport, We had our Iris Carnival With Marilyn in the court.

The Sanders twins, Laurie, Brickman, Gant, Milstein, Potolsky Were chosen the new members of The National Honor Society.

Ashby and Jean Millikan joined This National honor roll, While Sally Brickman took her pen And joined the Quill and Scroll.

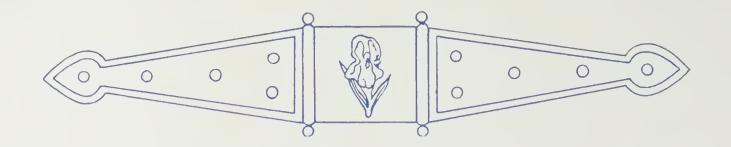

The year rolled 'round the clock again, June carried us away, We said farewell to Stratford Hall, And memories of our day.

Senior Hall Will

We Seniors now take our last farewell, For our sun is set and our day is gone And only fond memories now are left, But give us one minute to linger on.

We have a gift for each of you, The first to our Alma Mater goes. Our gratitude for the honor, truth, And the love of you that we all know.

To Miss Fitz we give our humble thanks For the good she's done for us; And thanks to faithful Sponsor "Rick," Who stuck for better or "wuss."

Louise, a girl who's always on time And never late the year 'round, Bequeaths this virtue to Rosalyn Brown, Who can't hear the alarm bells sound.

Melva, the lover of every horse, Leaves her ability to ride to Farmer, With a thoroughbred equestrian's wish, That no horse will ever ever harm her.

Now the next of our senior's droll, So fondly called "Sal" by name, Leaves her stock in a gold fish bowl To "Al" with hopes it brings fame.

Our charming red-head, Jewel Anne Fahy, Leaves her cousin to Mary Jane Daves; While Lucy leaves to Mary Lou Her many virtuous ways.

Our whiz in French is Susan G., To Daves she leaves her skill. A pair of slippers now we see Is left by Billie to Phil. To underclassman Pattie B.
Is left the height of Lanigan;
While M. D. L., the pig-tailed girl,
Leaves braids to Barbara Harrington.

Now the campuses and call downs To Jane from Lindy go. While Sylvia leaves the council blues To one who has no woe.

Jean leaves her knack to eat and eat And never gain a pound To Ginna Cullen with her hopes She'll profit all around.

To "Nickie" is left a love of Carmen By Elinore, we are told; And Natalie leaves of Stratford H. To all the Juniors bold.

Rita, a genius of our class, Leaves to Imogene her A's. While to Mary Ann Munz is left All of Reynolds' winning ways.

To Barbara by Kitty Riley is willed The class of Physiology; And to dance with that certain Kinston skill Is left to Eleanor by Rountree.

A report card filled with rows of A's, A tasty little dish, Is left by Rowland to Rachel In that foreign subject—Spanish.

Betsy, one of the Sanders twins, Leaves her Episcopal pew To Trotter, and the reason is She happens to like the view. Mary, the other Sanders twin, Leaves the source of all her woe, Her bank account, to Phyllis Shadle In hopes she'll make it grow.

Many are the men troubles Of our own Carolyn Smith; She leaves them one and all to Brenda, Who thinks them just a myth.

Nancy Strailman, who we hear's engaged, This little secret tells: She leaves to Nancy Nance her "Best for future wedding bells."

Betsy Stuart, better known as "Petie," Leaves to her little sister, Jean, Her early riser breakfast moods To change the morning scene.

That Cupid touch is left by Pat; It's quite the thing we're told. It goes to Morton, in hopes that she'll Keep the boys within her hold.

Juanita Vaughan has skill, it's true, In leading her profs astray, And this she leaves to Mary Lou To grow bolder day by day.

At last our gifts are given out And the coming of the dawn Finds bags all locked, the train waiting; Into the world we hurry on.

-Mary Douglas Laurie

Senior Hall Prophecy

Wynken, Blynken and Myself one night Sailed off in a wooden shoe. The night has a thousand eyes to see, So we saw this happening to you.

She does all the work, while he takes his ease, And that's how we found our charming Louise. Milstein was surveying the width of the world; Heaven protect the poor working girl.

Other futures we saw through the black. Sylvia and Melva own a race track. Carolyn and Lindy were still catching males. Age cannot wither them, nor custom stale.

"I must investigate the heathen Chinee,"
Said the imminent historian, Miss Lucy Lee.
"Who's Who" has written somewhere on its margin,
That Natalie has found the Hottentot's origin.

The brilliant Dr. Vaughan was interning still, And M. D. Laurie had taken up the quill To write the life of our Alice Rountree, Who is teaching the Northerners how to ski.

The Sanders girls had married Siamese twins, And Marilyn Rowland has the boys in a spin, But she plans to marry and settle down, When Jewel Ann designs her wedding gown.

We knew we'd find Nancy decrepit, but kicking, We saw her giving her youngest a licking. Dr. Pat Timmer had made a new pink pill Guaranteed to either cure or kill!

Anne Reynolds was drawing Disney cartoons, While Riley was teaching tricks to babboons, To be in the movie starring our Jean, Who's this year's outstanding movie queen.

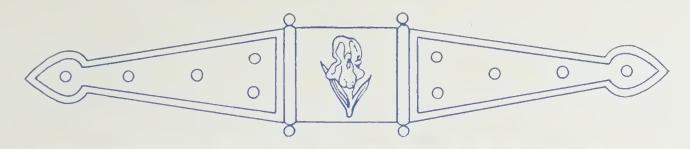

Sally is a chemist, with acids and tubes, Trying to freeze hot ice into cubes. Susan Gardner was working in fashion textiles, Orange and red flowers are her current wiles.

Rita Potolsky was traveling 'round the world, Her husband is cute with a wig all curled. It was made by Petie, who has an exclusive shop Where the famous people, like Jack Benny, stop.

Alone in the dreary, pitiless street, In my long, thin nightie, and my bare, cold feet, Wynken and Blynken had left me standing To go seek Nod who was visiting Lanigan.

She has a fine house and eighteen young uns. You'll pardon me now if I conclude my puns. I'll hang my harp on the willow tree And may the world go well with the . . .

Quitumn saw many of our games.

Again the clash of a hockey stick, and the sound of a cheer fell upon the hills. We remember how at dusk we reflectantly left the playing field to trudge through the carpet of dark red leaves, which covered our homeward path.

Fall found we son the termis court on taking walks son the campus. With winter came wolley-ball and the white net stretching across the gym tossed back many of our careless serves.

The cycle of the peasons then brought spring again and once more our hearts were thankful for the beautiful out of doors and pleasures of carefree spart.

Lear Diary, Here at stratford we have a queen for everything. We elect each one to stand for our ideals and to represent the very agreet of that special occasion. On October Day Swatched the herald lead the queen across the campus to her throne. When winter drew near I threlled again to the old story of the madoma and the Christ child, Too, the traditional holiday dance with the yougentation of the Christmas Card Gerl carried the season close to my heart. We were proud of the Iris Queen, the Queen of Hearts, and the apple Blassom Grencess. Then May came, and when the Maid of Honor placed the crown on the head of the queen we know that summer was near. Last came the the of the year. She is the embodiment of ourschool spirit and the very essence of Stratford. Little Fris

SYMBOL OF INTEGRITY IN TEXTILES . . .

Those five little words mean something . . .

They mean years of textile research, the best raw materials available, painstaking manufacture, rigid quality control.

They mean unfailing delivery of honest value . . . style, comfort, and serviceability.

They mean it's a product of Dan River Mills, Incorporated . . . the largest single textile manufacturing unit in the world . . . outstanding in the textile industry for new ideas, new processes, new developments.

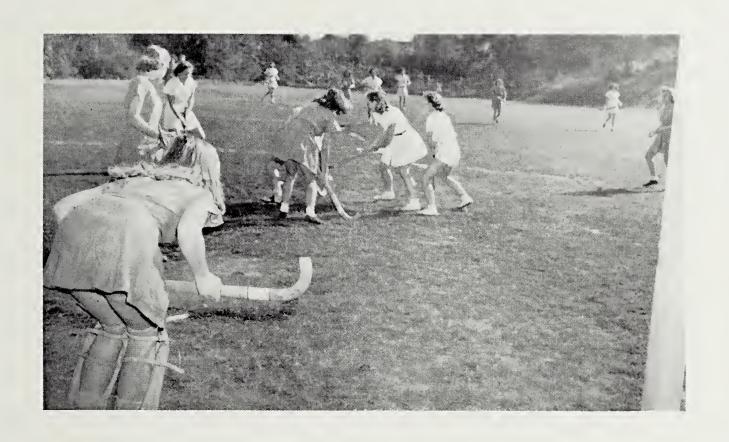

If you would like to see how Dan River fabrics are made—from the bale to the bolt—call or write D. A. Overbey, Jr., at Dan River Mills, Incorporated. He will be glad to arrange a tour for you, with a conductor who will explain the various processes of manufacture in non-technical language. Special tours can be arranged for clubs, civic groups, teachers, and students over sixteen.
